

About Ohio State University Extension...

Extension is the world's largest non-formal educational system, created in 1914. For nearly 100 years, we have worked to meet the needs of our neighbors and our communities through our statewide and national Extension network. You can find us in every county across the state of Ohio bringing the best in researched based education to you.

A proud partnership of federal, state and local funding supports programming efforts. Join us to gratefully acknowledge the continued help and support of our local County Commissioners.

EXTENSION PROVIDES LOCAL FOODS EDUCATION...

Food Production education for new and existing producers in growing food in both urban and rural areas to meet ever-increasing demand and fill gaps in food security.

Food and Family education centered on nutrition, food safety, food preservation, food budgeting, wellness, and developing healthy lifestyle choices.

Food and Business education tied to food processing, distribution, job creation and economic sustainability.

Food and Community education connecting local food to community gardens, farmers markets, food banks and schools.

Buying Local is IMPORTANT....

Agriculture and food production are important contributors to our Fulton County economy. Buying locally supports local agriculture, communities, and families. Spending your money locally keeps a greater percentage in the local economy and in support of local programs and services.
